Basketball Shootout is a basketball skills competition which involves shooting baskets from five “hot-spots” marked on one half of a basketball court. Two one-minute rounds constitute the duration of play, and the contestants with the highest number of points is declared the winner.

- Each participant has one minute to score as many points as possible. Starting anywhere they choose, participants move into shooting range and shoot from the hot-spots in any sequence.
- The competitor can attempt as many lay-ups as he or she wishes; however only two lay-up completions are allowed, each worth two points. All other shots must be taken from any of the five hot-spots.
- Participants must rebound their own ball.
- Five bonus points are awarded if a player attempts one hot from all five hot-spots. An additional ten points are awarded if a player attempts a second shot from all five hot-spots. In total, a bonus of fifteen points shall be awarded during a one-minute round if a contestant attempts two shots from all five hot-spots. These points are award regardless of the shots’ outcomes.
- When shooting from a hot-spot, a player must begin the shot with at least one entire foot within the hot-spot. A disqualified shot will not count toward points scored or toward bonus points.
- Females participants will shoot with a women’s basketball, men will shot with a men’s ball.
